

NEW YEAR'S EVE

PETER MARTHUR

The New Year was due within an hour, and the inseparables were sitting welcome its arrival. The Inseparables were three yeaug men of con-genial tastes, and they owed their usum to the samn socisties, and their frieadship was so generally recognized that when a committee of three was aceded at any gathering they were invariably appointed in a hunch. So it was only natural that they should be sitting up together to see the New Year in. Hut, though they were entirely congenial, it would have been evident to any keen observer that on this occasion they lend something on their minds. Moreover, it would not have been hard to de-termine what that some-thing was. They had each made good resolu-tions for the coming yea, and, though they were the best of friends, they did not exchange confidences, for every man hates to talk of his good resolutions, because they are so hard to keep, and the breaking of em gives rise to so mach chaffing. Still, careful observer could have made a owd guess at the unture of their resomed circle. Charlin Hague, in whose om they were assembled, was coddling s clear he was smoking with such lovcare and trying to get the last possibility out of it that it was not hard t de that for a few weeks at least bls consumption of tobacco would be materially decreased. Tom Fleiding with such strained precision that an attempt to give up slang was fluted at, and Jack Haslam was so morose that it was quite evident he had promised to make some great sacrifice for lds hancee. But, though they would not talk about their individual cases, the subject of New Year resolutions was so present to their minds that it naturally colored their cou-

"Say!" exclaimed Haslam, rousing him self. "We had some New Year resolutions down at our place today." "Good ones, were they?" asked Field-

Three of them were good in the ordinary sense, and one of them might per-haps be considered a good joke by one who was not vitally interested. You know our old man is a good fellow and tients us liberally, but still it is so natural to try to get an increase of salary on the first of the year that the bookkeepe not the head salesus and I thought it would do no harm to try to get n raise out of him, so we laid a little scheme. The matron of a well known Masonic Home mentions one inmate, seventy years of age, who has been in the infirmary for three years, a great sufferer from indigestion, and has been taking Ripans Tabules about a year and a half and finds them so beneficial that he ls never without them. He is willing that his name should be used in a testimonial, as it might be of use in persuading some other person to try them. A second old gentleman, in the same institution, eighty-four years of age, has had liver trouble for many years and finds that R·I·P·A·N·S help him very much. They also have two nurses there, one thirty years of age, the other forty-two; both suffer from indigestion, causing headache, depression of spirits and nervousness. They take the Tabules and find them so useful that they always have a package in their pockets. The matron also states that she is forty-five years of age and at times suffers with indigestion, causing pain and paroxysms of belching, and finds that the Tabules are very good indeed and Is perfectly willing to have her name used in a testimonial.

LESSON VIII.—Public reading of the (Nah. vlii, 1-12). Golden Scriptures (Neh. viii, 1-12). Golden Text, Neh. viii, 3, "The ears of all the the law," The greatest thing on earth s to know God, and there is no way to know Him but by His word. He saves us, that we may willingly obey Him (Isa. i, 18, 19) and thus be abundantly blessed.

LESSON IX.—Wors of iotemperage (Prov. xxiii, 29-35). Golden Text, Prov. xx, 1, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging, and whosever is deceived thereby is not wise." The great deceiver and murderer and father of lies has many devices, by means of which he seeks to rain body and soul, but strong rick is one of his best destroyers, hen he gets a person tilled with drlak they are so completely under his influence be can do what he will through them.

LESSON X.—Keeping the Sabbath

LESSON X.—Keeping the Sabbath (Neh. xiii, 15-22). Golden Text, Ex. xx. 3, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep t boly." In this husy world not many copile find time to get acquainted with the world famous "White" Sewing Machine than God, so He has graciously given us one ever before offered. reveal Illmself to those who desire to know Illm, and He tells us that If we will conscientiously give Illm the whole of this day we will learn to delight ourseives in Illan, and doing so we shail ob-tain the desires of our hearts (lsa. lviii, 13, 14; Ps. xxxvil, 4). LESSON XI.—Lessons in giving (Mai. l, 6-11 and iil, 8-12). Golden Text, II Cor.

ix, 7. "God loveth a cheerful giver."
The word "cheerful" is literally "hilorins" and is not used cisewhere in tho New Testament. The spirit of giving, which God loves, is seen in the gifts of the people for the tahernacle and temple (Ex. xxxv, 29; xxxvl, tt, 7; I Chron. xxix, tt). Duvid would not offer that which cost him nothing (II Sam. xxiv. 24), and Mury brought that which was very easily (Joha xii, 3), and the poor wldow east in all she had, even all her ilving (Mark xii, 44). One-teuth of our neome and one-seventh of our time is the ienst we should offer Illm. Let us He gave Himself for us.

LESSON XII.—Fruits of right and wrongdoing (Mal. iii, 13, to tv, 6). Goiden Text, Gal. vl, 7, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall be also reap." God, who put in the garden of Eden all that is pleasant to the sight and good for food and who so loved us as to give His only begotten, well beloved Son, loves to fill His people with His abundance and takes special interest in all who will let LESSON XIII.-Christ's coming foretold (Isa. ix, 2-7). Golden Text, Luke li, 11, "Unto you Is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." As truly as 11e came once the Lord. in great humiliation to suffer and die for our sins, so surely will He come again in glory as King of Israel and King of kings, and the whole earth shall be filled with His gbry.
